

HERE'S TO HEALTH

Preventive or Non-Preventive?

Most plans pay preventive visits/physicals including bloodwork at 100%, even if you are in an HSA.

Example 1

Preventive: You're getting a physical exam. It wasn't scheduled because of any symptoms or an ongoing health condition.

Example 2

Non-Preventive: During a routine physical exam, your doctor finds a mole and decides to remove it for testing. The mole removal is diagnostic.

Example 3

Non-preventive: You've been taking cholesterol medication. Your doctor orders regular blood tests to check your cholesterol level.

According to the CDC if everyone in the country received the recommended clinical care, then the healthcare system could save over 100,000 lives a year.

Questions to ask your doctor

Can routine lab work be sent to a in-network lab to lower any out-of-pocket costs?

Will any additional tests I get during my appointment not be considered preventive care?

Is my doctor in my plan's network?
